

My Business Vision in Words

Dear Great Spirit:

Here is my business vision, this or something better, if it is your will for me:

My vision for my business is to have a fully integrated spiritual life in all aspects of my life and to be of maximal service to the planet and its inhabitants.

My primary and most abundant source of income comes from the sale of my paintings and other works of art. My artwork is a tool for spiritual growth and a source of beauty in the world that reminds the viewer of their sacred connection to all things.

When I create my art, I am engaged in a spiritual practice that is fun for me and builds positive connections with other people. When I am alone the creative process is a way to connect with spirit and let spirit create through me. When I share my work with other people it becomes a process of giving back to the community and creating a healing space for people to grow and find meaningful connection with the world. I do not let my art become a tool for the ego or a source of suffering in the world, either for myself or others.

I have a large light filled studio with offices and healing spaces that sits on the same property as my house overlooking Los Angeles. I also have a studio compound on the Big Island of Hawaii that is my spiritual retreat where I can recharge and connect to the energies of Hawaii. Both spaces are light filled spiritual spaces.

I travel all over the world to exhibit my work in museums, galleries and other non-traditional spaces sharing my work with as many kinds of people as possible. I often offer spiritually-based performances that are designed to both heal the participants and expand consciousness about art, spirituality and the process of healing the soul's wounds in order to become spiritually whole.

I will periodically spend several months living in another country making art and absorbing the local energy and culture of a place. This includes studying different forms of spirituality and doing spiritual retreats that inform my work.

My business vision also includes being a college professor and a shamanic energy healer. Although this is not the primary focus of my income or time, it is an essential part of who I am. Healing and teaching are two sides of the same coin for me. I am a life-long and committed student of the healing arts and indigenous healing traditions as well as a student of art. I share what I have learned about healing and art with as many people as possible in the time that I have available to me when I am not making art. I view this as an essential aspect of being of service to the world and my communities.

On a practical level this manifests as teaching at local colleges and offering healing services to various communities through one-on-one healing sessions as well as in various types of events that I throw, some of which are connected to my art practice.

My business vision provides for me abundantly spiritually, mentally, emotionally and physically. I never worry about having enough, because I have unwavering faith in my higher-power and the divine flow of energy through my life. The excess abundance I receive from my businesses I use to fund a charitable foundation that I have created to heal the environment and providing spiritual resources to the world.

If this is your will for me, Great Spirit, please show me the right actions to take on the path toward it. If it is not your will, please redirect my thinking and actions to be the person you would have me be. Thank you, Great Spirit.
